Publication and Copyright Statement

Patrons are advised to become familiar with the copyright law as defined in Title 17 of the United States Code. Researchers assume all responsibility for adherence to copyright laws and must be sure to clear copyrights to the material they use.

Permission to use materials and purchase reproductions from the Santa Rosa Junior College (SRJC) Archives does not convey the permission to publish, exhibit, quote beyond fair use, or otherwise reproduce materials in full or in part. Securing these permissions is the responsibility of the user, not of the University or Archives.

In addition, the researcher must assume full responsibility for conforming to the laws of libel and literary property rights which may be involved in the use of manuscripts and other archival material. As a general rule, no material written by a person still living may be quoted, paraphrased or used in any way without the consent of the author.

Patrons who wish to quote, publish, exhibit or reproduce material from the Santa Rosa Junior College Archives must request permission in writing to SRJC Archivist, Doyle Library, 1501 Mendocino Ave., Santa Rosa, CA, 95401 or archives@santarosa.edu. Although SRJC can only grant permission to publish texts or images for which it is the copyright holder, SRJC does own the copyrights to most of the material in the Archives, including printed materials published by SRJC and many records created on behalf of SRJC. In cases where the copyright is held elsewhere, the Archivist will try to assist patrons in identifying and locating the copyright owner. Santa Rosa Junior College reserves the right to assess a use fee when granting permission to publish material from the Archives.

Patrons will supply the Archives with a copy of the publication or work in which archival material is published or in which substantial information or material from the Archives is cited.

Santa Rosa Junior College will be held blameless for the infringement of copyright or publication rights by others due to deliberate or negligent misuse of the permission granted to examine or copy materials in the Archives.

In giving permission to publish, Santa Rosa Junior College does not surrender its own right thereafter to publish the material or to grant permission to others to publish it.
